

13th ANNUAL SPRING CLEANING

As the snow melts away in the Spring Mountains, the remains of broken sleds, food wrappers, cigarette butts, bottle caps, and more emerge from the snowmelt, littering trailheads and picnic areas. Mt. Charleston is at risk of being overrun with trash after a busy recreation season.

Southern Nevada Conservancy is holding its 13th Annual Spring Cleaning Saturday, May 16th. This public event allows the community to make a direct positive impact on public lands that have seen a lot of recent use and abuse. Hundreds of volunteers will gather on May 16 in assigned groups and pick up trash around the area's most popular recreation spots. After the refuse is bagged and centralized, volunteers will gather for a picnic with food, fun, and music at the Spring Mountains Visitor Gateway amphitheater and event space.

You can champion the success of these mountain stewardship efforts by sponsoring the Spring Cleaning!

$100 Mountain Friend – Sponsors receive shout outs and recognition by name on the Spring Cleaning event page, social media, and on-site during the event picnic.

$500 Mountain Hero – We're adding your company logo to the above recognition and making room for your organization's booth at the picnic.

$1000 Mountain Champion – Your logo will be prominently displayed on the event banner along with everything above, and you will be singled out for recognition on social media.

$5000 and above – Interested in supporting stewardship activities on the mountain during the Spring Cleaning and beyond? Let's chat!

Contact Jim Stanger at 702-258-7573 or jstanger@snconservancy.org

With your support, the months ahead will see visitors to Mt. Charleston hiking cleaner trails and having a better outdoor experience!

2020

For questions about the event contact Leonie Mowat:
leonie@gomtcharleston.com

Signup to volunteer at:
<https://www.gomtcharleston.com>

